Sherry Williamson Elected to the Office of Secretary of the National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks

Sherry Williamson, Clerk of the Texas Court of Appeals, Eleventh District, was elected to the Office of Secretary of the National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks at the organization's recent annual meeting in Denver, Colorado.

Sherry Williamson was appointed Clerk of the Texas Court of Appeals, Eleventh District, in 1995. In her forty years of employment with the court, she has also worked in the positions of Deputy Clerk, Accountant, and Appellate Secretary. Ms. Williamson has served as the Secretary of the NCACC for the last six years. Since first joining the organization in 2001, she has served on various committees, including the Executive, Convention Assistance, Nominating, Public Relations, Publications, Membership, Pictorial, and Technology Committees.

The National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks was established in 1973 with the objectives of improving the skills and knowledge of its members, promoting effective court administration, providing a forum for the exchange of ideas, and maintaining facilities for the dissemination of information concerning appellate court operations. Its membership is comprised of state, federal, and military appellate and Supreme Court clerks from the United States, District of Columbia, territories and possessions of the United States, and tribal appellate courts.
